The 10th of November is celebrated worldwide as International Accounting Day, commemorating the publication of Luca Pacioli's seminal work Summa de Arithmetica, Geometria, Proportioni et Proportionalita (1494), which laid the foundation of modern accounting principles.

By organizing the commemoration of International Accounting Day for the first time, the College will be undertaking a pioneering step in the advancement of accounting education. The event will not only underscore the enduring relevance of the discipline but also serve as a heartfelt tribute from the students of commerce to the Father of Accounting, in grateful recognition of their intellectual debt to him.
